Legacy....

Just recently I finished reading two books on the history of Clinton County, Iowa. I found both books to be fascinating and enjoyed immensely looking back at how people lived during the time span of the 1840's to the 1930's. It's amazing to me to see how we've come from the days of the horse and buggy and steamboats to automobiles, planes, and trains. One of the things I learned about Clinton County is that there were quite a few inventors, authors, actors, and famous people from this area. The other thing that impacted me was how quickly those people were here and gone--just a small paragraph written about them and nothing more. And yet I wonder, what did they really leave behind?

The definition of the word legacy according to Webster is "anything handed down from, or as from, an ancestor." So then the question we must ask ourselves is "what are we handing down?" What are we passing on to those after us? What kind of spiritual legacy are we handing down? Focus on the Family's website lists five things that we as parents and grandparents can do to help pass a spiritual legacy to our children and grandchildren:

1. Acknowledge and reinforce spiritual realities. Do your children know that Jesus loves everyone, and that God is personal, loving, and will forgive us?
2. View God as a personal, caring being who is to be loved and respected.
3. Make spiritual activities a routine part of life.
4. Clarify timeless truth--what's right and what's wrong?
5. Incorporate spiritual principles into everyday living.

The important things aren't what will be written about us after we're gone. The important things are what we will pass on. --scott

New Ministry Opportunity:

We are excited about the opportunity we have to lead/teach music and minister to special need adults in the DeWitt area on a weekly basis. We would covet your prayers as the details still need to be worked out. We are thankful to God for expanding our ministry in this way and pray that His name be glorified.

Praises and Prayer

* The month of May will mark our 5th year of ministry. We praise the Lord for His goodness and faithfulness to us!

* Please pray for the opportunity we have to teach/lead music to special need adults in the DeWitt area.

* Praise God that He has already supplied in full for our 1st quarter taxes due in April!

* Please pray for wisdom and provision as both of our vehicles are in need of repair.

* Please pray for our family's health as we have struggled with coughs, colds, and flu bug.

* Praise that God is always in control in spite of our weaknesses.
